DID YOU KNOW THAT

93.9%

OF AMERICANS HAVE SOME FORM OF GINGIVITIS?¹

Not only is gingivitis common, it is entirely preventable. Some common brushing barriers that could contribute to this include:

Incorrect Brushing Technique

Some people scrub and don't give proper attention to each tooth.

Brushing Too Fast

Most people brush for less than the recommended 2 minutes.

Brushing Too Hard

Brushing harder isn't better. Too much pressure can even damage your gums.

Missing Brushing Zones

Hard-to-reach areas are often easy to miss.
