Farmhouse Casing

1144 Modified [3/4 x 2-5/8]

Traditional style farmhouses often feature wainscoting, particularly in dining rooms and other gathering areas. Farmhouse wainscoting is often simple, with limited ornamentation. As farmhouse style lends itself to function, wainscoting is used to protect walls against dampness, moisture, and dirt.

Farmhouse Plinth Block

E2E [7/8 x 3-3/4]

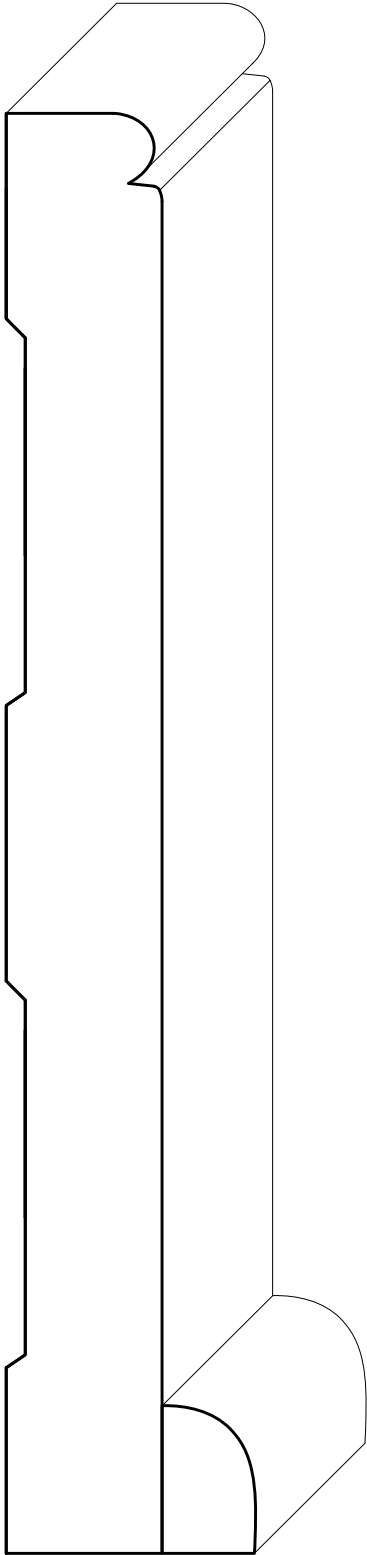

Plinth blocks are often used to create a visual transition between baseboards and casing. While plinth may be used in windows and columns, its most common use is alongside door casing. Farmhouse style plinth blocks are designed to be simple, functional millwork.

Farmhouse Baseboard

1144 Modified [3/4 x 7-1/2]

5101 [1/2 x 3/4]

Like most farmhouse style millwork, farmhouse base trim is simple and uncluttered. Farmhouse baseboards are often taller, affording a more substantial, grounded appearance.
